PLAYER PROFILES

Evans is a forward. Born in Belgium, she represents Wales and is part of the squad. She has recently spoken out against social media trolls.

Tuipulotu is a Welsh Prop whose father played rugby for Tonga. She is keen to beat his record of playing in two World Cups.

Richards is a winger, debuting for Wales in the 2024 Six Nations. She was born and raised in Abu Dhabi to Welsh parents and qualified for the squad through residency.

Tshiunz was born in Democratic Republic of the Congo and moved to Wales as a child. In an interview with The Times he said 'Fitting in at the start was strange because you can't communicate. I played football and tried to make friends that way. It was tough to start off with. But everyone in my primary school made an effort. Imagine being friends with someone you couldn't speak to. I found everyone was really nice and that is why Wales resonates with my heart."

Tompkins was born in England and qualifies to play for Wales due to his Wrexham-born grandmother.

Born in Tonga, Faletau is the son of former Tongan international Kuli Faletau. He moved with his family to Wales aged seven, was selected for the British & Irish Lions and has made over 100 appearances for Wales.